series of all time. Garth and Steve wrap up the brilliant Preacher. If one believes in Political correctness, or not putting religious beliefs on the line, this is NOT the series for you. Outrageous, thought provoking and never gentle, this series stands the test of time. Simply brilliant. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. This is the End. By Russel Duke Elsea A good and happy ending to all the main characters. Lots of twists and turns, and the fight between Jesse and Cassidy is awesome. It was a fitting end to one of the greatest comic stories of all time, even though I didn't want it to end.

In this final PREACHER hardcover, Jesse Custer makes amends with his girlfriend, Tulip, then seeks revenge against his former friend and compatriot Cassidy for the things the Irish vampire did to her when they both believed the Preacher to be dead. The final chapter in the Preacher storyline and the conclusion of Jesse Custer's quest to literally find God and take Him to task for the world's injustices. As the Preacher's crusade draws to an end, all of the players converge at the Alamo for a final show-down. With the love of his life, Tulip, by his side, Jesse makes his last stand against all of his enemies, including the Irish vampire known as Cassidy, whom he used to call friend. But as the dust settles in the Texas desert, you won't believe how this epic battle of good versus evil will end.

About the Author Garth Ennis has been writing comics for over twenty years, initially for British titles like 2000 AD and Crisis, then for various American publishers. As well as Preacher which he co-created with Steve Dillon his credits include Hellblazer, Hitman, War Stories, Adventures In The Rifle Brigade, Kev, Battler Britton, The Boys, Battlefields, Dan Dare, 303, The Chronicles Of Wormwood, Crossed, Streets Of Glory, Dicks, The Punisher, Fury and The Pro. Originally hailing from Belfast, Northern Ireland, he now resides in New York City with his wife, Ruth. Artist Steve Dillon grew up drawing from an early age; the London native received his first professional assignment at age 16. His work for various UK publishers led to his being offered work on Vertigo's Hellblazer which paired him with writer Garth Ennis. They went on to create the award-winning Preacher.
